© 1996-2014, Amazon.com, Inc. or its affiliates The 4th Corporate War's over and the big dogs have retreated to their corners to lick their wounds. That leaves everyone else to fend for themselves in a shattered world. And that's just fine. 'cause you've got interface plugs in your wrists, metal in your limbs, and chips in your skull. You're wired in, loaded with chrome, and ready to take it out there. There's a world of options more than you can count on your fingers. The Cyberpunk Red Jumpstart Kit is the perfect introduction to the newest edition of the classic Cyberpunk tabletop roleplaying game and includes: Two booklets, one containing world lore and adventures and the other the essential rules needed to play. Six pregenerated characters you can customize with their own unique lifepaths. An EZ Reference sheet to facilitate game play. Maps and standees to help bring the world of Cyberpunk to life! Beautiful dice designed and crafted by O Workshop. The Cyberpunk Red adventure Cody Pondsmith GM'd for Dicebreakers is now free to download. The adventure, called Red Chrome Cargo, is a quick-one shot suitable for a demo stream. You can get the four-paged PDF from R. Talsorian Games directly. If you're not a GM, then it means you might not want to sneak a peak for risk of spoilers. Equally, you might want to watch the Dicebreakers video even though it's embedded below. The full Cyberpunk Red RPG isn't out yet, but it's third on the most anticipated games of 2020 chart. The computer game, Cyberpunk 2077, for which Red is the prequel is officially delayed. However, the jump start kit for Cyberpunk Red is out and looks good. In fact, the Cyberpunk Red Jumpstart Kit was DriveThruRPG's bestselling game of 2019. At the same time, R. Talsorian Games has released some interior art from yet to be released rules. The dramatic illustration is called Nails and is by Columbian concept artist Santiago Betancur. Actual play Cyberpunk Red Where does Cyberpunk Red sit on your personal list of most anticipated RPGs of 2020? Pick up the starter set for Cyberpunk Red - the latest edition of the tabletop RPG that inspired this year's blockbuster video game Cyberpunk 2077 - as well as the core rulebook for the hugely influential Cyberpunk 2020 and a complete library of sourcebooks from just €6 in the latest Humble Bundle deal. The Cyberpunk Humble Bundle includes a digital copy of the Jumpstart Kit for Cyberpunk Red. Released last summer, the beginner-friendly set includes pre-made characters and basic rules for how to play Cyberpunk Red, providing an intro for newcomers before they pick up the full rulebook released by publisher R. Talsorian this month. The Cyberpunk Red Jumpstart Kit is available as part of the second tier of the Humble Bundle, alongside the core edition designer Mike Pondsmith's futuristic RPG released in the nineties. Priced at £6.15 or more will nab you both the Red set and 2020 book, along with a number of sourcebooks and accessories - such as a GM 'data' screen and map of Night City - as part of the bundle. That pledge also includes the lower tier of the bundle, available from 76p, which features seven sourcebooks for Cyberpunk 2020 including the Blackhand's Guide to weaponry in the setting and Maximum Metal, a book filled with destructive vehicles, power armour and other such mechanical machinery, unveiled at £11.54 and above, the bundle's top tier adds even more sourcebooks to the pile. The 13 additional books include the Rough Guide To The U.K. - showing the dystopian nightmare of Britain in 2020 (too real) - and Land of the Free and Home of the Brave, two books that cover the major cities of the United States. Pacific Rim, meanwhile, travels 19 countries from New Zealand and Hawaii to China and Japan. Players can also take things beyond Earth with the inclusion of the Deep Space sourcebook. The Cyberpunk Humble Bundle is available until December 16th, with a portion of proceeds - adjustable by the buyer, as with all Humble Bundles - going toward Ablegamers, a charity that champions inclusion and representation of disability and accessibility in relation to video games. I'm all love—a dynamo So push the button and let me go.' —Lovin' Every Minute of It 1984 Zomba Enterprises Inc. (ASCAP) So You Wanna Be a Cyberpunk? Or Maybe Just Look Like One? Before you pitch off your sleepmat and jump in, there are a few things we need to tell you. First of all, the name. Cyberpunk comes from two words: cyber, from the term "cybernetic," or a fusion of flesh and machine technology; and punk, from an early 1980s rock music style that epitomized violence, rebellion, and social action in a nihilistic way. The term was popularized in the Pre-Collapse days by a group of writers who specialized in writing science fiction with this kind of techno-mélange. Their works featured a streamlined blend of flesh, pop, sex, drugs, and the highest, hippest technology—usually grafted onto their body somewhere. The archetypal Cyberpunk heroes of the 80s ranged from techno-barbarians roaming a post-holocaust world, to cyberchipped jet setters with designer bodies. Of course, from our enlightened viewpoint here in the Time of the Red, this all looks pretty dated. After all, you probably accessed this article from your personal database 'comp. You used a Kamakura 19 interface cable with a direct link from your head jacks. You're accustomed to hardwiring into appliances to make coffee, "studding" into the 'Benz to drive down to the corner store. So there's carrying lethal hardware. Each Character in this world is playing a role in the world as the real thing. The vast majority of vehicles in the Time of the Red are fueled by an advanced form of alcohol with a higher burning temperature than normal methanol. Chromer. Twents-first century heavy armor. Welcome to the Dark Future. Okay, so now you're ready. As a Cyberpunk, you grab technology by the throat and hang on. You're not afraid to check out the newest in enhancements, cybertech, and bio-engineering. You've got interface plugs in your wrists, weapons in your arms, lasers in your eyes, biochip programs in your brain. You become the car you drive, 3 THE VIEW FROM THE EDGE the aerodyne you fly, the guns you shoot. You dive headfirst into computer systems, using your mind to hurtle at lightspeed all over the new networks of micro-nets, Data Fortresses, and Artificial Intelligences. With cyborg fingers, you pick computer locks; with enhanced senses, you see into the Future. Cyberpunk is also an attitude. You wear the most "in" clothes, know the right people, and follow the right crowds. You plan your crimes in the most select clubs and bars; your enemies are Corporate armies, cyborg bike gangs, power-armored assassins, and computer-wired Netrunners. Your weapons are nerve, street smarts, bravado, and the Minami 10 smugtown on your hip. Are you ready now? Of course you are. You can't wait. Now you're Cyberpunk. Maximum mike R BAGO A QUICK TABLETOP ROLEPLAYING GAME PRIMER If this is your first tabletop roleplaying game, relax: roleplaying games aren't nearly as mysterious as you may have thought. This is just a structured form of make-believe play acting, rather like when you played Cops & Robbers as a kid. The focus is on verbal description and storytelling, with Players describing what they do rather than acting it out. Most of you are going to use these rules to play Characters (aka Player Characters or PCs), personas you control that exist in this fictional universe of 2045. This book is set up to give you a clear idea of how your Characters think and act and how they work within the rules (see page 10). One of you will take on the role of the Game Master (or Referee or GM): the person who presents the story plot to the Players, controls any Characters not controlled by the Players (called logically Non-Player Characters or NPCs), and applies and arbitrates the rules of the game. The GM must have a firm grasp of the rules and the fictional background in which the game is set. It's the most demanding position in terms of energy and imagination, a lot like directing a film when you can't control all the actors, but it can be immensely satisfying as well. The GM sets the backdrop to the game world to devise plots into which they place the Players' Characters (or uses published adventures, several of which are included in this set). They describe the situation as their Characters would know it, and the Players describe what their Characters are doing to respond to the situation. The plot generally flows from there, with the GM presenting obstacles, NPCs, and other elements in story form as the Players continually decide what their Characters will do. And so the Players and GM create a story together. Then what are these rules for? Well, many situations will come up in the course of a game that require more than common sense to resolve. For example, if you've never been in a firefight, it might be hard to judge how things would happen in one. The rules give you a way to play out those situations in a fair and consistent manner. When the outcome of an event is in question, you roll dice (Cyberpunk Red uses ten-sided called d10s and six-sided dice called d6s), and the result of the roll helps you determine what happens. Then the GM generally applies the rules and results as required. Okay, that should give you a handle on the basic concepts; now get on with the game! 4 THE VIEW FROM THE EDGE STREETSLANG Some Common Terms in the Time of the Red: A slang term for the period from 2023 to the late 20-30s, taken from the red skies common throughout the world as an aftereffect of the Fourth Corporate War. against this particular opponent due to fear until they defeat one. Example: The Ironmaster is a feared slammer known through Night City. In the middle of the Slammer, he runs across an attractive young woman and her male companion. The Ironmaster says "Take a clue and vanish, Kid-trash; the input's with me now." The Kid stands up and says, "Vanish yourself, burnbrain." A facedown begins. The Ironmaster is known all over the City, giving him a Reputation of 6. What he doesn't know is that the Kid is a black belt in Karate. Although the Kid is new in the Zone and hasn't much of a Reputation (3), he is totally self-possessed and aware of his skills (COOL = 10). The Ironmaster is tough, but he's mostly a bully. His COOL is only 4, bolstered by a Reputation made on a few lucky fights. His total Check is 4 + 4 + (roll of 6) = 14. The Kid's total is 3 + 10 + (roll of 3) = 16. The Ironmaster feels a strange unease as he stares at the calm, ready-to-rock Kid. His eyes shift away, and he backs down with a grunt. His other option would be to resort to violence, but he would take a -3 to any future Checks made against the Kid, due to fear, and that would make the fight rather hard, wouldn't it? So he backs down. So you got the basics down? It's time to grab the biggest caliber weapon you can find and start building yourself a Reputation. Because that's the only way to really make it in the Time of the Red.
